“The best people are today trying to find ways in which human values can be expressed against the alienating and normative forces of the global economy”. Architects like Gehry, Piano, Foster, Burgess, Desmoulin, Blue Sky, Erskine, Behnisch and Torp “tend the flame of hope and carry the lamp of truth in a world that seems increasingly to have no values other than profit and the market in its grossest form”.

GBA is widely acclaimed for its major contribution to Australian identity, cultural life and the built environment. As a leader in architecture practised as a social and environmental art, GBA has been acknowledged internationally with numerous awards, dedicated exhibitions, academic and professional seminars, conferences and publications.

The work of the practice has been upheld as exemplary for its cultural sensitivity, inclusive collaborative process, its powerful and poetic embodiment of spirit of place and identity in all its diversity. GBA's richly responsive materiality, resonant form-making and bold technical innovation have been powerful influences on contemporary design for over three decades.

The architecture of GBA is a transformative vehicle which addresses questions of our world: familiar questions with novel answers: 'What is a house, a community, a place, a city?' How do we endow dwelling with care?' How can the built environment support human well being?' Our buildings attempt to articulate the enigma of identity in place; social and communal well-being and the meaning(s) of being-at-home in the world.

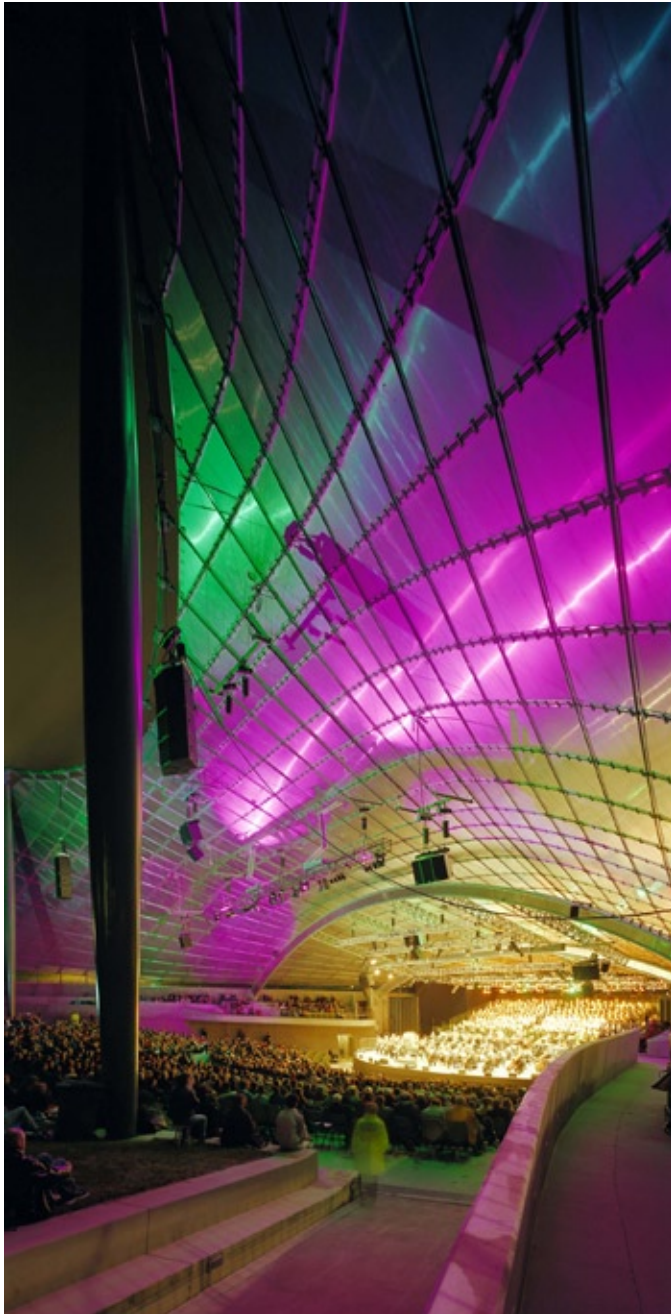

GBA's studio-based collaborative practice engages the client and the whole consultant team in this exploration, building a dynamic dialogue of listening and response, of inquiry, imagination and inspiration in which the project can develop its unique and layered rich potential in a spirit of generous exchange.

The practice's engagement with contemporary possibilities and questions, seeks to continually expand architecture's boundaries and enrich its human content socially, culturally, artistically, spiritually and technically, nurturing a future that is sustainable and caring.

The GBA logo graphic evokes a crucible, a receptacle; a horizon with rising sun; a coolamon and grinding stone – it represents a site of creative production and fertility, a place of seeding and transformation which gives expression and embodiment to our desire to live well individually and collectively. GBA grounds our human aspirations in a vibrant and living ecology of placemaking that captures the public imagination and nurtures new beginnings.

Long Island Development and Frankston Yacht Club Redevelopment, VIC

This proposal by GBA and TCL for the Long Island Development and Frankston Yacht Club Redevelopment re-imagines this unique site as a fulcrum reconnecting the flow of the ancient dunes and their windswept banksias with the tidal flux of the sea. Building, people and nature are integrated into a harmonious and balanced ecology, a dynamic and responsive focus of community gathering and recreation, giving inspiration and delight to Frankston's rich and vibrant culture.

Victoria Street Gateway, Yarra City Council, Melbourne, VIC

Gregory Burgess Architects, in collaboration with Thompson Berrill Landscape Design have been awarded the Yarra City Council Victoria Street Gateway Identification and Streetscape Theming Elements Project. This project presents an opportunity for Yarra City Council to highlight Victoria Street, one of its major activity centers, represent the Vietnamese and Asian communities. We will be working closely with stakeholders and the Council, embracing the community's expectations, creating and ensuring a strong sense of community identity and ownership of the development with a sensitive approach to Victoria Street's cultural streetscape and ensuring that the highest care is taken to protect and enhance the character of this special precinct.

Mildura Riverfront Redevelopment – Stage 1, VIC

The Mildura Riverfront Redevelopment will revitalise the connection between the town and the Murray River, establish Mildura as a cultural and heritage Gateway to the region, provide a recreation and leisure destination for locals and visitors, and consolidate the riverfront as a community gathering and events precinct. GBA are working with Tract landscape architects on stage 1 of the redevelopment, which is deemed to be of state significance and identified as a key project by Regional Development Victoria. Proposed buildings in the precinct include a new Rowing Club with function room facilities, a heritage Power House used by local performing arts groups as rehearsal and performance space, pop-up event based areas for food vendors and outdoor areas for large and small community gatherings with all associated facilities and amenities.

Peninsula Hot Springs, Mornington Peninsula, VIC

The Peninsula Hot Springs is a large staged development of the natural springs found on the Mornington Peninsula. The masterplan, by Gregory Burgess Architects, includes a luxury hotel, a pool house, wellness facilities and secluded guest villas. Following the success of Stages 1 and 2 since 2005, GBA continues to work closely with the Hot Springs on small works throughout the site including interior renovations, private bath pavilions, and extensions to decks and waiting rooms, prior to beginning Stage 3 of the development.

Public Amenities Prototypes, Frankston, VIC

This project will establish a future framework to improve the public amenities in Frankston. Initially working with SJB Urban to establish the design guidelines Gregory Burgess Architects will generate a series of prototype designs that can be constructed in various locations around the greater Frankston area. The prototypes will be durable, safe, accessible, sustainable, and playfully respond to the local conditions. The project will evolve into the detailed design and construction of one of the prototype toilets that will be located in Frankston Plaza Forecourt at the Frankston Pier.

St Andrews Community Centre, St Andrews, VIC

St Andrews Community Centre operates out of an Historic School House and Classroom and provides support and opportunities to the community who are recovering from the Black Saturday Bushfires. GBA is working with the community to realise an extension and expansion of the centre with a new addition that will sit in a familial relationship with the c1886 school building and the new Men's Shed. Careful refurbishment of the Heritage buildings will ensure their protection and on-going functionality, and provide for new opportunities for community services.

Shepherds Ground, Butterwick, NSW

Masterplanning, concept design and design development for Shepherds Ground, a Rural Land Sharing Community on 277 acres of secluded, cleared farmland in the Hunter Valley. The stakeholders' aim is to create a nurturing place for the renewal of rural village life with small viable farms, businesses and simple clustered housing. GBA will design a common area/hub which includes a hall, community kitchen and meeting spaces, amenities and therapy/healing rooms; and prototypes for affordable housing using ecologically sustainable design principles and local materials.

Norfolk Island Cultural Centre, Norfolk Island

The Norfolk Island Cultural Centre is to provide a permanent home for practice and teaching of unique Norfolk Culture including language, the arts, cooking and community gathering. The centre is to be a landmark building that itself expresses the culture of the local people to the visitors who support the economy of Norfolk, fostering economic opportunity as well as sharing and learning. Environmental sensitivity is critical to the success of the project in an isolated context where all water must be caught and stored on site, power generated by the building and the use of materials carefully selected for efficiency while meeting the required cyclone rating.

Gold Coast Surf Museum, QLD

The Gold Coast Surf Museum Feasibility Study is a collaborative project between Gregory Burgess Architects and SGS Economic and Planning. The study assesses the possibility of building a world-class surf museum which would connect the surf and beach with the Gold Coast culture and architecture as recorded by artists and photographers. Besides showcasing surfing history and artefacts, the museum will also provide commercial and multi-functional activities such as visitor centre, education and retail spaces. ## Environmentally Sustainable Design

“The environmental dimension of Gregory Burgess Architects’ work integrates ecological concerns into the central tasks of architecture. In an era when we still give specialist awards for sustainability, as if it were not a necessary part of the art of architecture, GBA’s work celebrates architecture as an ecological art. This is an architecture that becomes sustainable at a level beyond the technical issues of solar orientation, energy transfer and materials, embracing larger concerns about how we live and the values and forms that are worth sustaining.”

Prof Kim Dovey, University of Melbourne. Art, Community, Environment, Spirit. Architecture Australia, Nov/Dec 2004

Sustainable design is central to the practice vision of Gregory Burgess Architects. We see environmental sustainability as integral and inter-dependent with social, cultural and economic sustainability. We actively seek opportunities to strengthen the development of environmentally appropriate design from the outset of each project. We have earned a reputation for architecture that responds to both the technological challenge of ecologically sustainable design and the values at the core of the environmental movement.

ESD design strategies can be inexpensive to build into a project and can return substantial savings in the life of the facility. We carefully consider material selection, balancing durability, low embodied energy (i.e. the total energy required to fabricate, transport, install and maintain the material) and environmental impact with cost, maintenance implications and aesthetics. Reusability of materials and components is considered, and the ability to recycle items in the future if required.

Integral to the designs of Gregory Burgess Architects is harnessing the sun and wind to reduce the mechanical operation costs of the building. Passive solar design can result in daily savings due to reduced reliance on artificial heating, cooling and lighting. Mixed mode ventilation and thermal chimneys are often integrated into our buildings and finely balanced with mechanical ventilation to reduce power consumption. In recent years it has become necessary to carefully manage our water use in building design and operation. We encourage all our clients to adopt a water saving management strategy and incorporate systems such as rainwater harvesting for toilet flushing or grey water recycling for garden irrigation.

ESD challenges us to engage in ongoing education and research. The fostering of relationships with suppliers of environmentally sustainable building materials and consultants who are expert in the provision of environmentally efficient systems has been crucial to our success in this area. In addition, we have taken up many opportunities to share our knowledge and experience through professional and client workshops, seminars and publications.

GBA has won numerous awards for our commitment to sustainable building including:

- 2012 City of Port Phillip 2012 Design Development Awards: Mayor’s Award for architectural excellence in sustainability and innovative design for the Middle Park Public Amenities Block
